Editorial Policy and Publication Ethics

The journal uses a Double-Blind Peer Review system, where submitted articles are first reviewed by editors to confirm the journal's standards and scope. If an article fails to meet these standards, it is rejected. If satisfied, two reviewers are selected for further review. This rule also applies to the Editorial Board Members. The journal is dedicated to upholding publication ethics, adhering to scholarly societies' guidelines to maintain quality and update its system. Authors submitting to this journal must follow our guidelines.

This authorship policy guarantees appropriate recognition for all intellectual contributions and accountability for the final published content. Only individuals who have made significant contributions to the research and composition of the work should be designated as authors or contributors. Eligibility for authorship necessitates data collection, critical evaluation, publication endorsement, and responsibility for precision and integrity. Contributors who fail to meet these standards, nonetheless, offer significant contributions should be acknowledged in the acknowledgement section. All manuscripts accepted for publication should be free from plagiarism (maximum of 10% similarity content) and possess a maximum of 20% Artificial Intelligence (AI) content.

Submission Guidelines

The manuscript should include an abstract written in English of not more than 150 words as well as seven keywords, placed immediately after the abstract. Typically, the abstract should state the research problem, aim, research methods, main findings and implications, conclusion and major recommendations of the study. Submissions should be typed double-spaced, fully justified in Times New Roman and Font Size 12 on A4 paper as a Word document. Manuscript size should be between 5,000 and 8,000 words (inclusive of abstract, keywords, notes, references, etc.). The reference style adopted by the Journal for all manuscripts is the American Psychological Association (APA) 7th Edition. Each manuscript should be accompanied by information about the author(s): full name (family name last); institutional affiliation; email address; and phone number. All manuscripts should be submitted as email attachments in MS format (Word document) to: delsujnds@delsu.edu.ng
