Scope of the Journal

In an era where collaboration and cross-disciplinary approaches are increasingly vital, the ULM-Multidisciplinary Journal emerges as a platform dedicated to fostering innovative research across various domains. With a commitment to showcasing diverse scholarly works, the journal plays a crucial role in a global academic landscape that values varied perspectives. ULM-Multidisciplinary Journal is a University based journal, most of the editors are high profile scholars from Tribhuvan University, Nepal.

The ULM-Multidisciplinary Journal is designed to encompass a wide range of fields, inviting contributions from disciplines such as Education, Social Sciences, Sciences, Humanities, Law and Management Sciences. By embracing this extensive scope, the journal encourages researchers, practitioners, and academics to bridge gaps between traditional disciplines and share knowledge that could lead to transformative solutions in today's complex society.

In an age defined by rapid change and interconnectivity, the need for multidisciplinary approaches in research is more pertinent than ever. Whether it's addressing climate change, enhancing health outcomes, or improving technological innovations, the collaboration of various scientific spheres leads to breakthroughs that single disciplines may overlook. The ULM Multidisciplinary Journal is at the forefront of this movement, offering a space where innovative ideas can flourish. The journal seeks original research articles, conference papers, and theoretical discussions that contribute to existing knowledge while prompting further exploration within and across disciplines.

The editorial board consists of esteemed professionals from diverse backgrounds, ensuring rigorous peer-review processes that maintain high academic standards. This method guarantees that published works not only meet specific criteria of excellence but also provide valuable contributions that stimulate discussion among experts in differing fields.

One of the principal goals of the ULM-Multidisciplinary Journal is to spark collaboration among researchers. By facilitating a dialogue between various academic communities, the journal helps create a conducive environment for new ideas to emerge. Contributions from interdisciplinary teams are particularly encouraged, emphasizing the importance of varying perspectives to enrich the research landscape.

Ethical Considerations

The role of ethics is very important to the publication process, so publishing ethics must be emphasized in the research process as the focus of the ULM Multidisciplinary Journal. It is the responsibility of the authors to guarantee the originality of their work, to cite all previously published work used in their article and to disclose any potential conflicts of interest. The journal also has strict policies against plagiarism, fabrication of data, and other forms of unethical research practices.

Article Submission Process

Before article submission, it is important to familiarize oneself with ULM's Article Submission Process. This process ensures high ethical standards, transparency, and accountability in research. However, authors are required to adhere to these principles.

1. Originality: Authors must guarantee that their submissions are original, unpublished, and not under consideration elsewhere. Plagiarism or self-plagiarism is strictly prohibited.
2. Peer Review Process: All submitted manuscripts undergo a rigorous peer review process. This enhances objectivity and maintains the quality of published papers.
3. Data Availability: ULM encourages authors to share data supporting their research findings, promoting transparency and replicability.
4. Open Access: ULM provides an open-access publication model, allowing unrestricted access to research outputs. This aligns with the journal's mission to disseminate knowledge widely and encourage scholarly dialogue.

5. Manuscript Preparation: Detailed guidelines for manuscript preparation are provided on the journal's website. Authors should adhere to formatting requirements, including structure, length, and citation style.

6. Submission: Once the manuscript is prepared according to the guidelines, authors can submit their articles through this email: nepalmultidisciplinaryjournal@gmail.com

7. Articles should be typed in Microsoft Word using 12 font size (Times New Roman), and they should not exceed 6000 words in single line spacing with an abstract of 150 to 200 words. Authors can use any of these referencing styles, APA (7th Edition) or MLA (7th Edition).
